Instructor Training

1. On 19-23 October 1959, Instructional Techniques Course #42 was presented to your Operations Support Training Faculty. Individual student Evaluation Reports and a Final Course Report have been prepared.

2. I desire to express my opinion regarding the professional competence of this Faculty. Their interest was quite evident in increasing their already high level of instructional ability. I feel certain that a large part of this interest is due directly to the Chief, Operations Support Training Faculty, although each individual Faculty member shared this desire for personal improvement.

3. I would like to make a suggestion for their consideration. I believe that they might be interested in participating in several panel discussions related to: individual differences; motivation; rates of learning; diagnosis of learning difficulties; effects of success and failure; and other general, educational subjects. These panels would be such that they would be complimentary to a basic instructional course and cover such "advanced" information and knowledge which would logically interest this type of Faculty. These panels might be one or two hours each over a period of several months, the schedule to be at the convenience of the Faculty and myself.

4. If further interest is apparent in such a suggestion, I would be glad to work out any arrangements mutually agreeable.
